

Our Support

The Opiate Outreach Task Force stands ready to assist you and your family with identifying and/or dealing with a loved one or someone close to you that may have or may be developing an addiction problem with either drugs or alcohol.

Access to Narcan

Narcan (Naloxone) can be obtained at local CVS, Rite Aid and Walgreens pharmacies.

Drop In Centers host representatives and coaches from area support agencies which provide assistance and resources for those individuals and families dealing with effects of Substance Use Disorders.

Plymouth County Sheriff's Department

Massachusetts General Law Chapter 123 sections 12 & 35 deal with Court Ordered treatment for Mental Health (section 12) and Substance Abuse (section 35) issues.

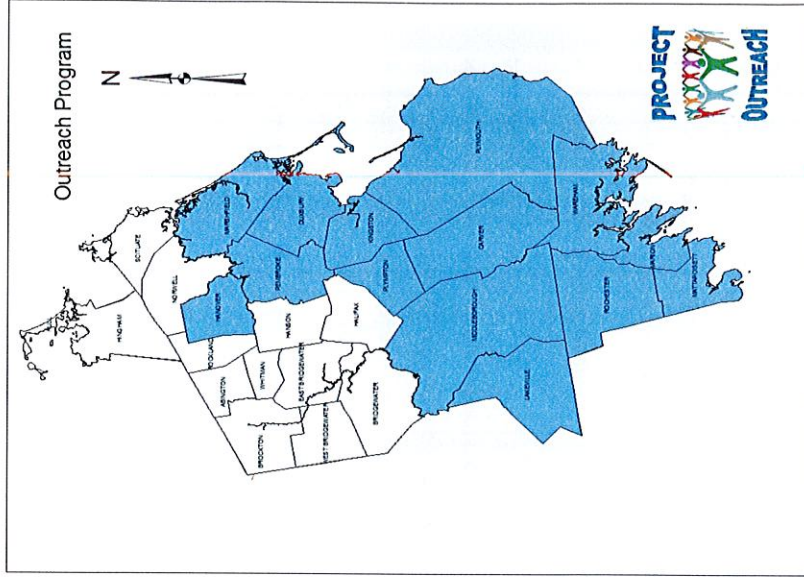

Copies of applications for Section 12 and Section 35 commitments are available on each of the supporting police department websites from the "Drug Information" link. This information is also available on the Project OUTREACH website at www.projectoutreachplymouth.com. These forms can be filled out and submitted to the Office of the Clerk Magistrate at the Plymouth District Court or the District Court whose jurisdiction in which you reside. These documents will be reviewed by a judge and a Medical Clinician who will determine a course of action and will in most cases issue a Court Order for an individual to be committed for Court Ordered Treatment for a specific period of time. This can be done without the services of an attorney.

In the event that you would like to speak with someone confidentially concerning a loved one or any of the information noted in this brochure please call the Plymouth Police Department at 508-830-4218 ext. 440. Please leave a message and you will receive a return call.

Addictions

There are many ways an individual can develop an addiction to narcotics whether it be alcohol, prescription medication, or illicit drugs such as Heroin or Cocaine.

- Curiosity or Peer Pressure

This group primarily targets teenagers that succumb to curiosity or peer pressure and the daily pressures of life whether from school and/or relationship issues, depression, or Domestic problems in the home, etc.

- Prior or existing Medical conditions

Those who have suffered a serious injury which may have resulted in an addiction to a Physician prescribed opiate based medication to deal with pain. Some of these medications are very potent and can be very addictive if not used properly.

In many cases those who have become dependent on such pain medications will turn to other prescription medications or illegal narcotics obtained illicitly.

Telltale signs of possible addiction

- Personal Hygiene or Appearance/Change in Habits— those who generally are observed to display impeccable personal hygiene will start to show indications that they care less about how they look to others. You may notice significant unexplained weight loss. You may find individuals associating with a different group of people, keeping odd hours, and sleeping late. People with addictions can appear lethargic or hyper depending on what type of drug they are taking or when they last used.
- Personal effects missing—personal property such as jewelry, clothing, personal electronics, and other items of value go missing. These once prized possessions are either sold, pawned, or traded in order to purchase illicit narcotics.
- Items missing within the home—it is very common that family members with addiction problems will steal from family members and those close to them. If you are noticing items missing i.e. jewelry, money, electronics, MEDICATIONS, or other keepsakes or items of value under mysterious circumstances this should alert you to a problem.
